

McKechnie Aluminium Solutions LTD has provided the drawings/ details contained in this document for informational purposes only. These drawings can be used as a suggestion for design detailing, however please note the specific site conditions and building complexities may require modifications or entirely different solutions to the details presented here. McKechnie Aluminium Solutions LTD cannot take responsibility or assume liability for any losses or damages associated with the use of these details on any project. It remains the sole responsibility of the project architect/ designer/ engineer and the appropriate BCA to determine the suitability of any detail on a project.